

Gardening Education Programs !

Please join us in 2007 for the Montgomery Community Gardens' Gardening Education Programs. These programs will take place on two Fridays each month from late April through October from 9:30 to 11:30 AM.

Gardening Education Programs will be lead by Sharon Anderson, Deborah Benjamin, Megan Martinson and other educators.

Designed for families with young children.

The Montgomery Community Gardens Education Programs are open to all. While we know that many adults will benefit from these valuable programs, our focus will be providing educational activities for children around gardens, growing our own food and encouraging good nutrition.

These education programs are ideal for parents with children up to age 13.

Parents are expected to accompany their children during the entire program and be responsible for their children's personal needs and behavior.

Gardening Program educators will adapt their educational material, presentation and planned activities according to the age range in attendance for each program.

Education Programs at Several Locations

Gardening Education Programs will take place at community gardens located at either the Bear Paw Pond Area, the High Ponds Farm or the Breezy Acres Farm. See calendar program listings for location.

Funded by Donations

Montgomery Community Garden Education Programs are offered at no charge. Costs for programs are supported by donations from individuals, businesses, organizations and foundations.

Montgomery Community Gardens Education Program participants are welcome to support Montgomery Community Gardens through voluntary contributions

Donations in any amount are gratefully appreciated.

We can also use volunteer labor and donated materials.

Let us know if you can help.
